Brief Report on “Workshop on Self-defence for female students”

Venue	Room No. G5, SST College
Resource Person	Asst. Prof. Jeevn Vichare, NSS District Coordinator
No of Students Participated	62
Date	25 th Feb 2022

On 25th February 2022 Self Defence Workshop for female Students was organized by the Arts Department of the College in Room No. G-5 at 11 AM on the occasion of increasing violence against women and various issues.

An important activity was the self-defence activity organized for women students by the art Department of the college. In the present times, the problems of violence against women, excessive incidents, sexual abuse at workplace etc. are seen taking a fierce form in the society day by day. This activity was very important for the female students to give them the knowledge and ability to protect themselves in this difficult situation.

Asst. Prof. Sambhaji Khandekar, Coordinator of Arts Department, said that in the era of globalization, competition is increasing tremendously and women have also started going out for work along with men. However, in this context, oppression of women has come to the fore, in today's time, women's safety and law have been discussed in his inaugural address.

NSS District Coordinator Asst. Prof. Jeevan Vichare sir awakened the women students by showing various demonstrations. At this time, he spoke about the need to have the ability to deal with emergencies and difficulties that arise at any moment after leaving the house. It cannot be guaranteed that the law will be available in an emergency every time, so we should be prepared to protect ourselves, and also prepare a mindset. . Such an important opinion was presented by Asst. Prof.. Vichare Sir on this occasion. Asst. Prof. Sanjay Partole Sir declared the program over after giving a vote of thanks.
